

Horses have many different body parts. Some of them have the same names and function as humans but there are many other parts of a horse that humans do not have. Using your own knowledge as well as research from the internet, can you name the different body parts indicated below with the red arrows?

